THE MURDER, TRIAL AND CAPTURE OF SAMUEL MEAD

DEATH OF ELIJAH DAVIDSON, WAR OF 1812 VETERAN

COLUMBIANA COUNTY

Gladys Mix, 3316 McCracken Rd., Salem OH 44460

The following story was related in the SALEM REPUBLICAN, issues dated 29 Apr 1875 (2:3,4), 4 Nov 1875 (p1,2,3), 9 Dec 1875 (1:3); 27 Jan 1876 (4:3); 25 May 1876 (8:1); 22 June 1876 (5:3); 27 Sep 1877 (p1). Similar stories were carried in other newspapers of the day.

ATTEMPTED MURDER AT LEETONIA

On Saturday evening, 24th, one of the boldest, wickedest attempts at murder was made at Leetonia, that ever occurred in Columbiana County, if not in the state. A little after four o'clock, p.m., a man named SAMUEL MEAD, known to several citizens of the place, called at the residence of ELIJAH DAVIDSON, whose house is on Front St. and not over 75 yards from the station. Mr. Davidson lives in a corner room, alone. He is 89 years of age, but quite strong and wiry. Was a soldier in the war of 1812. Mead pretended he wished to rent an upstair room for a sleeping apartment, & asked Mr. Davidson to go up and show it to him. When in the room, (which was quite a small one--six feet by ten--and to reach it, had to pass through another room of about the same size.) Mead drew from his pocket a string, which he said was the length of his bed and requested Davidson to take one end of it and they would measure the floor. He did so, and when stooping down to place the cord on the designated spot, Mead struck him a violent blow on the head with a stone--something like kidney ore--weighing about 4 pounds. The murderer then jumped on the old man and with one hand endeavored to stifle his cries, while with the other he continued his furious blows, holding the instrument of death firmly in his hand, until his victim's skull and left cheek bone were terribly crushed. In the scuffle, Mr. Davidson got Mead's thumb or finger in his mouth and bit it severely. Mead, in jerking it loose, broke off one of Davidson's teeth. The guilty wretch after doubtless believing his victim dead, robbed him of his watch, worth about 12 dollars, and his pocket-book, containing thirty dollars in money and five hundred dollars in promissary notes. Twenty-four dollars of the currency was received from the government as pension money, for service in our country's war with England, sixty-three years ago.

Mead passed hurriedly down the stairs and out on the pavement, from thence west on the railroad track. No one knew of the hellish deed he had committed until about 15 minutes afterward; not withstanding the terrible and deadly wounds received, Mr. Davidson succeeded in crawling out of the room and down stairs and on to the door step, where he was immediately discovered. He said, in answer to inquiries, that the man who hurt him was the same man who a short time before, pawned a coat with him, for two dollars and twenty five cents. That was known to have been Samuel Mead, and it was also known that Mead remarked, a very short time ago, when he redeemed his coat, that "Old man Davidson was just lousy with money." He had evidently expected to make a big haul and supposed he would find a fortune in the pocket book.

Mead had on, when he committed the deed, a white hat, a greenish gray coat and pants. He is five feet nine inches high, wore a goatee and mustache. His hair is black. He weighs about one hundred and forty pounds, and is said to be twenty-six years old. The next morning, Sunday, he stopped at his brother-in-law's, LEVI WARD, near Middleton, this county. He seemed somewhat excited and accounted for his sore thumb by saying he had got into a scrape at Massillon and was running away from arrest. Before leaving, he sahved off his goatee and mustache and dressed in a railroad cap, dark pants and light blue coat, faded. He started in the direction of the river. Has relatives living in West Virginia. He has a wife and child at Lawrence, west of Massillon. He had been working for the Lawrence Coat Co. and recently forged the signature to notes, which circumstance induced him to leave there hastily. He is said to have served one term in the penitentiary. His parents live near East Palestine, and are reported to be very respectable and exemplary people.

SAMUEL ERR MEAD

The general belief is, Mead premeditated murder. He had expected to get a great deal of money and in decoying his victim upstairs and into the small room, second from the stariway, he evidently thought his body would not be found for a day or two. The old man was of eccentric habits--lived all alone--but few called to see him and probably no one would have missed him until sometime on Monday, at least. We are, however, of the opinion that robbery only was contemplated at first, but the thief found his man so much stronger that he had looked for in one of his years, that absolute murder seemed necessary to accomplish his purpose, and left under the impression that he had actually slain his victim.

When our reporter left Monday noon, Mr. Davidson was still alive, but without probability or possibility of living many hours. So far, a reward of only $200 has been offered. It should be increased to $2000.Our reporter is under especial obligation to J.A.MYERS, Esq., SIMON MILLER, JOHN CLAPSADDLE, Esq., B.S.SOOWEY & others for the information they gave relative to the facts in the case.

P.S. The following special dispatch, received Monday evening, from East Liverpool, Ohio, announces the arrest of the supposed murderer: "Mr. Welch, one of the policemen at this place, arrested a man this forenoon, who is supposed to be the murderer of Elijah Davidson of Leetonia. He is about twenty five years of age, was dressed in light blue dress coat and dark pants, light cap; wears number five boots; is five feet seven inches in height; weighs one hundred and twenty five pounds, face clean shaved; left thumb and finger lacerated, have apparently been bitten, as they show plainly the marks of teeth. He claims to have no knowledge of the murder but seems somewhat reticent. Mr. Welch has received orders to take him to Leetonia on the first train."

May 6, 1875 p2 c2

ELIJAH DAVIDSON, the old man who was so badly injured by SAMUEL MEAD, at Leetonia, died from injuries received at Mead's hands, last Thursday morning at four o'clock. The prisoner was given a preliminary hearing on his arrival at Leetonia, which resulted in his being committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury.

THE MURDER, TRIAL AND CAPTURE OF SAMUEL MEAD

November 4,1875, p2 c1,2,3

THE TRIAL OF SAMUEL MEAD

Samuel Mead, the murderer of Elijah P. Davidson, on trial- The particulars of the murder--a bold but unsucessful attempt to escape from jail--getting a jury--how the prisoner appeared--His wife and two little children in court--no jury yet impanneled--motion for a change of venue overruled--full particulars up to the hour of going to press. From the New Lisbon Journal:

SAMUEL MEAD, charged with the murder of ELIJAH P. DAVIDSON at Leetonia on Saturday the 24th day of April, is now on trial at this place. The crime with which Mead stands charged was one of the most brutal and blood thirsty that ever blackened the page of crime. The following are

THE PARTICULARS:

ELIJAH P. DAVIDSON, the murdered man, lived by himself in a house near the depot, occupying a large room, and having two rooms in the second story for rent. A day or two previous to the murder, Mead called upon the old gentleman, telling him he would like to look at one of the rooms, pretending that he wished to rent. After seeing the room he retired, making some objection on account of the size. On Saturday he returned, agreeing to take the room, provided it was large enough to accommodate himself, wife and child. He brought a measuring line with him, and asked the old gentleman to go upstairs with him to take the dimensions of the apartment. Arriving there he gave Davidson one end of the line to hold while he would make some measurements. No sooner had he stooped to place the string in a place designated, that he was felled by a blow on the head with an oblong piece of kidney ore, weighing about four pounds in the hand of Mead. The murderer then jumped on his victim and with one hand endeavored to stifle his cries, while with the other he continued his furious blows until the old man's skull and left cheek bone were terribly crushed. Davidson grabbed his assassin about the legs and struggled hard to bring him down. In the scuffle he got Mead's finger in his mouth and bit it severely, clinging to it with such force that when the finger came out it brought with it one of Davidson's teeth. In the struggle the old man's head was beaten almost to a jelly and to make the work of death more certain, he was choked and trampled on the stomach, until the guilty wretch believed his victim dead. He then robbed him of his watch and pocketbook containing about 27 dollars in money and 500 dollars in promissory notes. Twenty four dollars of the currency was received from the Government pension money, for services in the war with England, sixty three years ago. Soon after Mead left, and for some time no one knew of the hellish deed that had been committed. Some neighbors heard the first screams uttered by the old man, but as they were not repeated, they paid no further attention to the circumstance. Notwithstanding the terrible and deadly wounds received, Mr. Davidson succeeded in crawling out of the room and down stairs to the door step where he was sitting when first discovered. In answer to inquiries he said the man who hurt him, was the same who had a short time before pawned a coat with him, for two dollars and twenty five cents. That was known to have been Samuel Mead, and it was also known that Mead remarked a very short time ago, when he redeemed the coat, that "Old man Davidson was lousy with money." He evidently expected to make a big haul and find a fortune in the pocket book. When found Davidson had bled profusely and every step was stained with blood, and yet he was conscious, and had strength enough left to tell his story. Dr. HAHN was called and dressed the wounds, when it was thought he could not live through the night. He lingered, however, until Thursday morning, when he died.

ARREST OF THE MURDERER

After committing the bloody murder, Mead fled to the woods, and JOHN DAVIDSON, a son of the victim, offered a reward of $200, for the arrest of the perpetrator, and soon hundreds were on the lookout for the guilty party. The people of Leetonia were terribly aroused and a diligent search failed to discover his hiding place. The next morning, Sabbath, he stopped at the residence of his brother in law, LEVI WARD, near Middleton, this county. He was somewhat excited, and accounted for his sore thumb by saying he had got into a scrape at Massillon and was running away from arrest. Before leaving, he shaved off his goatee and mustache. He started in the direction of the Ohio River, and has relatives living in West Virginia. It was thought, from the first, that he would go in that direction. On Monday, Officer Sharp of Wellsville, & Welch of East Liverpool, were upon one of the streets of the latter place, examining a telegram giving a description of Mead, an individual passed and entered a barber shop. The officers followed and inspected the person referred to, but was not quite certain that he was the man. After he left the shop, however, he was taken into custody and was asked to answer the inquiries exactly, even to the bite marks on the thumb. He was at once handcuffed and taken to this place, where he arrived about 10 o'clock. As Obie Welch, who had the prisoner in charge, was alighting from the buggy, at the Cowan House, the prisoner by springing from the other side, and running northward along Jefferson Street. Mistaking an open space between two buildings for an alley he turned into it and was soon captured. Sheriff Fountain and Deputy Kerns proceeded to Leetonia with Welch and the prisoner, but fearing an attempt might be made to lynch him, the prisoner was not taken to Leetonia until 3 o'clock next morning. Mead was taken before the Justice for a hearing, but owing to the difficulty in finding the witness for the state, he hearing was postponed until Saturday and the prisoner was brought back to this place and lodged in jail.

ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE

Elijah Davidson had just reached his 89th year, on the 24th of June, and experienced a sad celebration of that advanced birthday. In his little room, where he lay, attended by children and friends, were to be seen the stone, the twine and tooth--trophies of the terrible battle.

THE CORONER'S INQUEST

Immediately after Mr. Davidson's death, Coroner Badger summoned a jury composed of the following persons: JOS.MEEK, A.J.GARRISH, CHAS.TOWNSEND, SHELBY HINE, HENRY WATSON, A.J.CHRISTY. The inquest lasted nearly two days, and the jury returned a verdict that Davidson died from wounds at the hand of Samuel Mead.

TRIAL BEFORE THE JUSTICE

Saturday morning was the time set for a hearing before Justice Clapsaddle of Leetonia. The prisoner was taken up on the 6 o'clock train by Constable Roller, who received him from the county jail. When the train arrived at Leetonia, the party was met by about one hundred persons, who had congregated there from curiosity, no doubt, but the prisoner appeared anxious to be confined in the lockup until the hour for trial. The excitement of the last few days had died out and nobody made any threats or encouraged any interference in the matter, that might cheat the law of its just demands. The prisoner was brought out of the lockup and marched through citizens and strangers, attracted thither by the desire to see a murderer. Mead was defended by Judge Ambler and Mr. Barnes, while Major Wallace and J.M.Myers assisted Mr. Potts, Prosecuting Attorney. Testimony was introduced to identify Mead as being the person who called to see Davidson, and the barber who shaved him on the day of the murder testified that the prisoner was that person he had shaved. The prisoner's brother in law testified that Mead had been at his house in Middleton the Thursday preceding the murder and Mead said he was going to North Jackson on business. On Sunday morning after the murder, Mead returned and was found in the cellar by the brother in law, who asked him what was the matter, and Mead told him he had a fuss with a man and he would hear it soon enough. Mead had a black moustache and goatee and heavy hair slightly curled, when he left the Thursday before, but on his return he cut off his moustache and goatee, had his hair cut short, and changed his clothes. One of the boys went with him a short distance on the road towards East Liverpool, on Sunday morning. The prisoner was recognized by his mother and father, and his age given as twenty three. He is rather below medium size, weighing about 125 pounds, has small hands, black hair, prominent cheek bones, and does not look like a man that would commit such a horrible crime.

The trial lasted until about 5 o'clock p.m., the testimony being very full and complete. At the conclusion of the medical testimony, the Justice committed Mead to the county prison under the charge of murder in the first degree. Sheriff Fountain, who had been in attendance all day, took the prisoner aboard the local freight train, and fastening himself to the prisoner, brought him to the jail, where he had been confined ever since. At the last term of court he was indicted for "Murder in the 1st degree." His attorneys asked for a continuance of the case and it was postponed until the present term.

A DESPERATE BUT UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

On Tuesday morning, Aug. 24th, Mead made a desperate attempt to escape from prison, while the guard was placing a bucket in the cell. As he unlocked the door, Mead was engaged in wiping his face with a towel, but held in one hand about two thirds of a large brick wrapped in a cloth, all hidden by one end of the towel. The guard did not enter the cell, but opened the door just wide enough to admit the passage of the bucket, he stooped and set it on the floor, inside the cell. Quick as a flash Mead let fly the brick, striking the guard a terrible blow on the left side of the head just above the temple. With great presence of mind the guard pulled the door shut, locked it and blinded with blood and suffering with pain, he groped his way to the stairs.

Last Tuesday morning court convened, Judge Frease presided. At 10 o'clock Samuel Mead was brought into court and took a seat between his counsel. He seemed to be uneasy under the gaze of the spectators and moved restlessly on his chair, his eyes occasionally wandering about the room. There is a wild gleam in his eye, and his countenance is defiant and morose.

Mead is represented by Judge Ambler and M.E.Taggart, Esq., and the Prosecuting Attorney is assisted by Maj.Wallace and N.B.Billingsley Esq.

During the forenoon of Thursday, the prisoner's wife and two children came into court and sat near him. The oldest child, a beautiful little girl of two ro three years, sat upon the prisoner's knee, while the countenance of the mother indicated great suffering, and the babe upon her knee smiling and happy. Mead's father sat behind him and occasionally talked with him. His feelings could only be imagined, not described.

MOTION FOR A CHANGE OF VENUE OVERRULED

On Thursday the prisoner's counsel made a motion for change of venue in the case. The motion was overruled by Judge Frease. The following we clip from the Buckeye State:

THE JURY

After the examination of 191 jurors and the exhausting of all challenges save two by the defendant, on the meeting of the court Monday evening, the attorneys for the defense stated their satisfaction with the jury, but desiring that their swearing in be postponed until Tuesday morning.

On Tuesday morning, Judge Ambler addressed the court, claiming that the indictment was in reality two indictments, one for premeditated murder, the other for killing for the purpose of robbery and he claimed it was the duty of the State to choose between the two. Judge Freese failed to see any necessity for such election between the two. Judge Ambler then moved that the first count be stricken out and the Judge not granting, the defendant took exception.

The jury is sworn to well and truly try and a true verdict bring, in the case of Ohio vs SAMUEL MEAD, and is composed of the following citizens:

WHITE, PHILIP, Y.Crk.Tp., Master Mechanic, C & P RR

The case for the state was opened by Prosecuting Attorney Potts, who read the indictment against the defendant, the indictment containing two counts, as stated above.

Mr.Potts reviewed clearly and succinctly the facts of the case as tending to show the guilt of the accused and enumerated in substance the facts with which this account is prefaced. The minutise of the crime were detailed and a statement made of what the prosecution intended to prove.

Judge Ambler, for the defendant, warned the jury against taking the statement of the Prosecutor as testimony. He thought that the testimony to which the Prosecutor had referred, failed to show the identity of Mead with the one who committed the crime. The Defense would show and give ample reason why Mead should have desired to leave Leetonia, and the reason would have no connection with the case in issue.

At the close of Judge Ambler's statement, the witnesses for the prosecution were sworn. The first witness was DR.HAWN of Leetonia. Had practiced 8 years in Leetonia; was called to see ELIJAH DAVIDSON on the evening of April 24th, about 5 o'clock. Defendant's attorney objected to questioning concerning Elijah Davidson. The indictment reading Elisha Davidson. Judge concluded the casee had better go on and defense noted exception. Examination continued. First saw Mr. Davidson sitting in doorway; his arms were resting on his knees and head hanging forward and in a semi-comatose state; would answer when spoken to, but paid no further attention to what was going on around; after placing him in his bed, he was put under treatment calculated to ease him and bring him back to consciousness; examined head, found thirteen contused wounds; twelve were about an inch in length; the thirteenth was larger, five inches long in left side, shwoing several fractures, the pieces of which could be lifted out, as well as parts of skin and clots of hair; wounds were dressed about 9 o'clock in the evening; saw him again at 5 o'clock the following morning, at which time he was conscious and remained so until the next day, when he became drowsy and inclined to sleep; saw him again Tuesday morning, between 7 & 8 o'clock, his condition not much changed, though weaker and some what more drowsy. Wednesday still less conscious and could take little nourishment, except by injection; found him dead Thursday morning, having died between 4 & 5 o'clock; death was caused by inflammation induced by the injuries he had received in the manner described. The Doctor then described the room in which the assault had been made and saw there the evidences of violence. On the floor was a very large spot of blood, some of which had not been absorbed, and also tracks of blood across both rooms to the stairs and on them as well as the ceiling at the side. Together with DR. BOSSERT he made a post mortem examination, which uncovered no facts in addition to those already detailed. Lymph was found on the srachnoid membrane & serum on the srachnoid space; lymph & serum being the products of inflammation. The first necessary result of blows such as Mr.Davison must have received would perhaps cause death, while in the insensible condition. In this case reaction followed & as usual, that was succeeded by inflammation and this by death, which was what could be reasonably expected. Questioned as to any conversation he had with Mr. Davison after the assault. Objected to and exception noted. Interrogated by the court. His opinion was that the old man could not live more than a week. Reply to former question. Asked Mr.Davison if he had anything to attend to because it was likely that he would never get any better. Then the old man became sick at the stomach; tried to answer, but said nothing about his condition. Next conversation was Sunday night; he was conscious; previous question put; defense object and objection noted; his chanced for life were evidently gone; he read to him a paper describing the assault (objected to) showing that it was to his dying declaration and the old man assenting and putting his name to it with ink; he neither said nor did anything more.

Cross examination.- As to the necessary fatality of the wounds received, no new facts elicited.

JOHN DAVISON- examined as to the method in which his father spelled his name, response that it had always been spelled DAVISON and his first name ELIJAH, in full, ELIJAH E. DAVISON. At this point the attorneys argued the propriety of trying the case on an indictment charging Samuel Mead with the murder of Elisha Davidson, when the name of the man killed was Elijah Davison. The Judge held that though there was a misdescription, there could be no doubt as to the identity. The names were similar both in form and pronunciation. He saw no reason for preventing the Prosecution from continuing the case. Defense excepted.

JAMES McANULTY - Proprietor of the McAnulty House at Leetonia. Saw Mead either last December or January, when he staid with him over night; went to Palestine following morning and returned to Leetonia the evening of the same day; then he wanted to borrow $2.25 offering his overcoat as surety. An overcoat showed, witness did not recognize it. Said he could not do it, but referred him to other saloon keepers. In this Mead also failed. Then McAnulty referred him to Mr.Davidson; Mead went over, came back, the old man following; Davison gave his pocket book to him (McAnulty) to get the money and he took out $2.25 and gave it to Mead, who left the overcoat as surety; the money was to be returned & McAnulty would send the overcoat back to Mead at North Lawrence. The money, however, was never returned; Mead left next day. Cross-examination: witness was not sure that defendant at the bar was the man above referred to.

SAMUEL LANDENSLAGER - Leetonia. Had known the defendant many years, having gone to school with him; saw Mead on the 24th of April at Leetonia, near post office; couldn't tell anyting about Mead's clothing, he had a moustache; had little conversation with him; Mead then said that his residence was at North Lawrence and that he was going home that day; next time he saw him was when the marshall brought him to Leetonia; Mead's hair had been cut and his moustache taken off; he saw him the winter previous in Leetonia. Cross examination: the post office & Weidmayer's saloon are places of common resort;

ADAM SOMERVILLE - Lived at Leetonia six months, formerly lived at East Palestine; has known the prisoner 7 years; he saw Mead on the 24th of April at Leetonia and he said he was working at North Lawrence; he told Mead he might get mining work at the Grafton Furnace and going there together, received employment; inquired then for board; they went together to Mrs.Davy; couldn't get boarding; found boarding another place; this about 3 o'clock; Thursday went to the billiard hall; Mead was dressed in light colored pants, vest same, coat & hat same; hat rather high crowned; had on a pair of fine boots; didn't know what color the tops of his boots were; striped shirt (overcoat shown); same color as that which Mead had; hair long, goatee & moustache; they remained at the billiard rooms 15 minutes and then went together to the depot. Mead then wanted to know of the agent what passenger train went to Palestine; they then went back to the billiard hall, they remained there a while and Mead left and went down town saying that he had business; did not see him until he was brought back to town. Cross examination: examined as to his testimony before the justice. He couldn't swear that the prisoner at the bar was dressed any differently today than the 24th of April.

MRS. HAWK - Lives now at Mechanicsburg; lived at Leetonia a year; in Mr.Davison's house since last spring, near the railroad; lived there since the last week of February; Mead came to her home about 4 o'clock, came in & said "How d'ye do, Mr.Davidson" who was there at the time? sat there 5 minutes; his face as red as a beet; he asked Mr.Davidson if he had a room to let & Mr.Davidson said he had, & Mrs.Hawk could give one up; Mead told them he had a wife & child about the size of Mrs.Hawk's; asked if he wanted to see the room; said yes; he was dressed with light brown coat; a little lighter she thought than the light pants, fine boots tucked in them; Mead & old man went up stairs together through the trap door leading up; she went up stairs and found them up in the small room; this room she thought was four feet long & eight feet wide, wide enough for a bed and one chair; old man had his clothes in small room; she had some furniture in larger room; she asked Mead how long before he wanted to come in; said he would let her know in two or three days; then he went downstairs; the old man & she followed in order mentioned; this was about 4 o'clock; she left them standing on the foot of the stairs, door opens on Front Street; she went through the trap door to her own room; that was the last she saw of Mead; saw Mr.Davidson a few minutes afterward; Davidson after staying in her room went upstairs & she did not hear any more of him until she heard him groaning; she came around to the front where he was sitting & found him all covered with blood; Mr.Wright came to her assistance & then a crowd collected. Dr.Hawn was summoned & they took him into Mr.Davidson's room; she did not see Mead until the following Tuesday, at which time his hair was short & he wore a cap; his moustache & goatee shaved off. (The watch taken from Mead was here shown). She said it was Davidson's. She had it in her hand the previous Friday; she next saw the watch in the 'Squire's office the following week; (piece of the kidney ore shown her) she had seen it before, on the 24th of April; the blood on the bedroom floor ran through into the plaster below. Cross examined; she had lived in Niles and Canfield before going to Leetonia and made a living by washing; she slept in the basement, and kept extra things in the upper room; never saw Mr.Mead until that Saturday; Mead had a light brown hat & brown coat; he had on a dress coat; it wasn't an overcoat; "an overcoat and a dress cost was two different things." She was certain the watch produced in court was that of Mr.Davidson, because it had a hand broken off, a piece of it broken and no crystal.

JAMES DOWLING - Saw Mr.Davidson sitting in the doorway after the murder had been committed, in the condition already recited; heard screams and groaning; after witness had been in the barber shop & afterwards went upstairs & there saw the blood; and saw a stone covered with blood & gray hair; he picked it up; nothing else in the room except an old account book; Marshall Roller was with him; first time he ever saw Mead was at 11 o'clock on the day of the murder, in the barber shop, when he was shaved; former testimony as to hair corroborated; light colored hat-brown - light blue coat & gray pair of pants; a change in his clothing when he was brought back to Leetonia. Cross examined: the overcoat he recognized; the undercoat was a blue & resembled that worn by the prisoner at the bar.

SAMUEL SWITZER - of Leetonia; was on Main Street at the time of the murder; saw the old man; started about 10 minutes of six toward Salem, near Grafton Furnace saw somebody coming up through the meadow from the railroad, going north; the person was dressed in light pants, light hat, snuff colored overcoat, pants inside his boots; was about 60 yards from the man, who was small; commanded him to stop; they stood there some time; this party said he had important business; he had dark moustache and small goatee; Morgan went ahead and this man ordered us to stop & fired; they gave chase for about a mile and a half, through the woods, but lost him in Kindig's woods; by this time it had commenced to get dark; the man seemed to be larger than the prisoner; saw Mead next in Leetonia in the lock-up; he differed in appearance, as he had shaved off his moustache, his hair was cut shorter and he wore a cap. Cross examined: I did not know the man in the lock-up as the man I had chased; I think the overcoat was longer than the one shown me; I was about 100 feet from the party while chasing him; I can't say the prisoner was the man.

JOHN MORGAN - Lives in Leetonia; resided there on 24th of April; heard of the murder about half-past five; I did not know Mead; about 6 o'clock, with the last witness I started towards Salem, looking for the murderer; about a mile from Leetonia, noticed a man crossing a field. I called to him and asked the road to Franklin; he was about 60 yards away; he had on a gray hat, dark overcoat, light pants, pants in his boots, long hair, moustache & goatee, small man weighing about 130 pounds. I jumped out of the buggy and ordered him to halt, by this time he had got to a ravine going north; by the time I got to where he started up the hill, he was at the top and turned toward an orchard; I fired at him; he turned around & ordered me to stop, or he would shoot; I fired again & he returned the fire & started across the orchard; he went directly north & we lost him in Kindig's woods; the prisoner looks altogether different from the man I saw, except in size; that man had black moustache, goatee, overcoat & long hair.

MICHAEL WARD - Samuel Mead is my brother in law; he married my sister; I reside five miles from New Waterford; Samuel Mead lived in North Lawrence at the time of the murder; he had moved 7 months before; he was at our house Thursday before; he had on a blue coat, light colored pants & light colored hat; had on fine boots with blue tops; his pants inside his boots; brown overcoat; I think the coat shown me is the one he wore; he stayed at our house until Saturday morning; he said he was going home; think he left about 7 o'clock; I saw him again next Sabbath morning, at our house, about daylight; I got up and found Mead in our kitchen; I said "Good morning."; he had on dark pants, the same coat & cap; Saturday morning he had long hair, moustache & goatee; he asked me to cut his hair after breakfast; I did so while seated on the porch; I cut it rather rough; he asked for a razor & shaved off his moustache and goatee; some of the family asked what was the matter? He said he could not tell them; they still inquired; he said they would find out soon enough; he said he had a fuss out in Massillon; he said he wanted to go to the river; this was about 10 o'clock; he left after breakfast; my youngest brother started with him; they went southwest from the house across the country toward the road; didn't see him again until I saw him in Leetonia; his thumb was hurt from some cause; it seemed to be bruised in the inside.

LEVI WARD - brother in law of Mead. Testimony similar to above.

EMMA WARD - testimony same as above.

LYCURGUS WARD - brother in law of Mead was not at home on the day when Mead came first; was there when his hair was cut & saw him shave himself; saw nothing wrong with his thumb; went with Mead two & a half miles, until we struck the Clarkson road.

MRS. HANNAH WARD - mother of the above witness & mother in law of the prisoner. Testimony same as above.

HENRY ASHBAUGH - live in Liverpool, was keeping boarding house in April last; recognized the prisoner; he was at my house Sunday evening, came between 4 & 6 o'clock; he asked for supper & lodging; had not heard of the murder at the time; heard of it next day; he stayed all night; had on a dark brown overcoat, cap & sky blue coat; took breakfast & went out; he gave me a two dollar bill to pay for his lodging; had some besides; never saw him before; noticed his hair was roughly cut; he had no beard.

WILLIAM WELCH - lives in East Liverpool; Marshall of that town; lived there last April; been in that business 3 years; received telegram on April 26th morning, looked then for party answering description; saw him 10 minutes later going into barber shop with another man; followed them in; witness asked one if he knew the other; Mead said yes, they board together; Mead was dressed at the time the same as now; different as to shirt which was calico; hair at this time was rough; saw thumb & scar on it; his hair was cut in barber shop; Mead afterward went down to a saloon; witness went to saloon also; didn't find him in saloon, came out & saw him in square going toward railroad tack, then went up alley to Third St.; witness met him on corner of Third St; told him I wanted to see him & took him into the parlor of Mr.Barlow; then told him what I wanted him for; said he had received a dispatch which in my opinion he agreed with, remaining about 5 minutes in the parlor; here he insisted that Samuel Mead was not his name; gave his name as Charlie Howard; threatened to sue him if he didn't let him go; then took him to Mayor's office; during this walk, Mead said he lived about New Castle; the hurt on his thumb could be explained; injured some place near New Castle; at the office Mead gave his name again as Charlie Howard; witness said he had arrested prisoner for murder and that his name was Samuel Mead; examined his hand, next took him to the jail; made an examination & found a box of cartridges & $21.51 in his vest pocket; found watch also; identified the watch shown him as that which he took from Mead; hand off, no crystal; the number was 5,885 or 5,895, but thinks it was the latter; does not remember what conversation he had with him in the jail; he was put there about half past 11 and remained there until 6; then started to Leetonia in a two horse buggy, with Mr.Frederick; went via New Lisbon; between Liverpool & New Lisbon, Mead said he had some trouble in Leetonia & asked to be released; he said he had $60 or $65 in his coat sleeve and that he would give that & his overcoat if witness would let him go at Franklin, where they crossed the railroad and that his friends were rich and would give him more; this was 4 or 5 miles southeast of New Lisbon; he then stated that he wanted to get out of the buggy and witness permitted him to do so, getting out with him; Mead repeated the same offer here; came to New Lisbon, stopping opposite the Cowan House; as witness was getting out of the buggy, Mead jumped out on the other side & slipped one of the handcuffs off his hand; then he ran away and hid in a little shed; witness followed & waited for a lantern; found him lying among some lumber on his face; took him back to the hotel, where they got supper; ripped the lining of his overcoat but found no money; recogzined overcoat as same examined, ripped the sleeves in his presence; Mead made no remark when nothing was found; then went to Leetonia; Mead had little to say; saw him put his hand in right coat pocket; asked him what he was going; he said "What the hell do you suppose I am doing?" Felt and found watch there; staid with him that night in the jail; had no further conversation with him there.

ANTE-MORTUM STATEMENT OF ELIJAH B. DAVIDSON

"On Saturday evening, April 24, 1875, a man came to me to rent from me a couple of rooms; I do not know the man's name, but he was the same man who pawned with me an overcoat three or four months ago; we went upstairs together to look at the rooms; we went up alone, no one went up with us; he looked at the rooms and said he would go and take the measure of a bedstead, to see if one could be put in; he soon came back with a string or twine, handed me one end of it and told me to hold it down to a point in the floor; when I stooped to do so he struck me on the back of the head with a stone; don't know how often he struck me, probably 20 times; in the scuffle I got his thumb and finger in my mouth; I bit him on the thumb & finger, in pulling them out of my mouth he tore out one or two of my front teeth; the man who struck me is a thin tallish man, wore a moustache and goatee, had kind of light gray clothes on; boots with blue tops; we had no words with one another before the scuffle commenced; I lost in the scuffle my pocket book with $30 money in it & $500 in good promisory notes, also my watch; the injuries now on my hand & body were inflicted with a stone by the man I have already described. I have no hope of recovering from my injuries, but now believe that they will soon cause my death. Up to time of the scuffle my health was good." Attest, John M. Myers. Leetonia, April 26, 1875.

DEFENSE

The testimony for the defense was brief and not very satisfactory to the prisoner. It consisted mainly in substantiating the assertion that Mead had money other than that he was supposed to have taken from Davidson at the time of the murder. This, all the witnesses swear, was obtained through means of a forged order on the Coal Company at North Lawrence, Stark County. The evidence of his innocence was scarcely sufficient on which to hang a hope. Judge Ambler, for the defense, made a very able argument. Probably none better could have been made by any attorney in the State. Potts & Wallace prosecuted with force & vigor, and the rendition of the jury "Guilty of Murder in the First Degree," is universally accepted as just and proper. So ends the Leetonia murder trial.

Should Mead be executed, he will be the first man hanged in Columbiana County. One or two others, we believe, came very nearly dying on the gallows, but escaped ty the "skin of their teeth."

Mead, the murderer, made an ineffectual attempt the other night to cheat the law, by doing a little blood-letting for himself. He opened an artery in his arm & bled nearly to death before being discovered. At last accounts, however, he was recovering and would probably get well enough to live out the balance of his alloted time, which will come to a close somewhere about the 10th of February 1876.

Samuel Mead, the murderer of Davidson, has been sentenced to be hanged on Friday the 25th day of February 1876, between the hours of ten and three o'clock. When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him, he, with a positive boldness scarcely expected, declared his innocence of the murder. He said some other man did it.

Mead evidently intends to make the best of his short lease on life, so far as his amusement is concerned. He passes his time away now by making the darkies in the next cell think there are ghosts about, and many a fervent "Oh Lord bless us and take away dese hyar ghosts" rise from the quiet of the night. He is evidently resigned to his apparent fate. (Buckeye State)

The Supreme Court carefully waded through the testimony in the murderer Mead's case & decided to allow the writ of error, and consequently suspended execution. The decision was rendered Wednesday evening at 4 o'clock and through the courtesy of Chief Justice McIlvaine we were furnished with it, immediately, to telegraph to Mead's attorney, Judge J.A.Ambler. Whether this will make Mead more happy or more miserable, we cannot tell; but should guess it will not add to the cheerfulness of Prosecuting Attorney Potts, nor to the comfort of the taxpayers, provided the case will have to be retried at an expense of another two thousand dollars.

Escape of Mead, the Murderer. Last Friday morning, about 2 o'clock, Samuel Mead, who was tried, convicted and sentenced to be hung for the murder of Elisha B. Davison & whose case is awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court on a writ of error allowed, escaped from the jail by sawing off several bars which formed the grating of the door of his cell. He escaped from the building by letting himself down from a window by a couple of sheets tied together. Sheriff Fountain has offered a reward of one thousand dollars for his arrest and detention. Samuel Mead is a young man, aged about 25 years; 5 feet 3 inches in height; black hair, black eyes, prominent cheek bones, chin rather sharp, beard rather thin & scattering on cheeks, & moderately heavy on chin; beard dark or black; had a scar, or rather a lump on left arm, just above the elbow joint, caused by a cut (on the inside of the arm); was very fair & pale on account of long confinement; has two occupations, that of a miner & harness maker; weight 115 to 120 pounds. He is probably within five miles of New Lisbon yet and sooner or later will there, or elsewhere be taken.

May 25, 1876, page 8, col.1

It is rumored that Mead, the murderer, passed through this place last Saturday afternoon on the train passing here at 4:21 going east. AN engineer on the road named Snyder was well aquainted with Mead, having worked with him as a track hand. Mead was attired in a dark dress, light hat & white veil, & Snyder recognized him by several marks on his face. Snyder spoke to the conductor of Mead sitting there, but the conductor believed him mistaken and paid no attention to the matter and would not allow him (Snyder) to give the alarm for fear of insulting the lady and now says that the person was a lady from Tiffin. Mead's father was in town last Saturday & purchased of Car Tescher & Co. a revolver, a sever shooter and a box of cartridges and got on that same train with his son, taking a seat opposite him. Mr.Mead hear Snyder talking with the conductor and immediately became restless and unable to keep his seat for any length of time and seemed ever on the alert. Snyder did not know at the time that there was a reward offered for Mead, or he would have followed this "Woman" to Pittsburgh, where she was noticed by several gentlement to get off. Snyder at New Waterford, this county, says he would be willing to testify that this was Mead, the escaped murderer.

DEATH OF MEAD, THE MURDERER. Samuel Mead, who two years ago murdered Elisha Davidson at Leetonia, was captured by Sheriff Fountain & his deputies. Considerable excitement was occasioned last Sunday evening, at the time of arrest, by a telegram from the Sheriff, saying Mead was shot and much speculation as to how it came about. His body was taken trhough Salem about 12 o'clock at night. Mead escaped from jail February last and ever since has been a wanderer. We transfer the New Lisbon Journal's account of his arrest to our columns. Sheriff Fountain, accompanied by Deputy Fred Galley & W.A.Roller of Leetonia, went to search the premises of Mead's father. The Sheriff & Roller commenced the search in the cellar, but not finding Mead there, they went to the garret where they found an apartment fitted up & presenting the appearance of having been recently occupied. The appearance of this apartment confirmed the Sheriff in his suspicions that Mead was there, and a thorough search of the premises was instituted, which lasted nearly an hour. After coming down stairs the Sheriff & Roller again went to the cellar and in making observations discovered a door which led to the outside cellarway. This the Sheriff partly opened when he saw Mead standing inside with a pistol at his face, cocked and pointed directly through the opening. The Sheriff instantly sprang back and closed the door. In a moment afterward, Mead made his exit from the building by the outside cellar door, near where the Deputy Sheriff Gailey was stationed, who several times ordered him to halt. Not heeding the order he started to run, closely followed by the officers who fired several shots at the fugitive. Mead finding escape was impossible, placed a pistol to his head and fired, the ball entered the skull a little below the center of the forehead. He lived nearly two hours, but never spoke afterwards.

After Mead's escape from prison he made his way to Arkansas, where he had been at work on a cotton plantation and only returned to the home of his parents, where he was concealed, on the night of the 16th. His parents urged him to flee or he would be apprehended, but he refused to do so before seeing his wife - he had come back for that purpose and declared he was determined to see her at the sacrifice of his life. His body was placed in a coffin and brought to New Lisbon about 2 o'clock this morning. The remains will be taken to East Palestine for burial.

The 1860 census of Middleton Tp., Columbiana Co., shows CELESTA WARD, aged 11, living in the household of Hannah Ward, widow. Also shown are Michael (age 20), Levi Ward (age 13), Emma Ward (age 5), Lycurgus Ward (age 2), and Hannah (age 43), all of whom testified at the trial in 1876. They were the children of Levi Ward, deceased.

Columbiana County records do not show a marriage of Samuel Mead and Celesta Ward. Two daughters were born c.1872 and 1874, one being named Jennie, who married a McNulty. Also born to them was a son Charles, b 19 Sep 1875 in Middleton Tp., son of Samuel Mead & Celesta Ward, residing in Fairfield Township; Charles died 16 Mar 1876 in Fairfield Tp., aged 9m 16d. (This son was born and died during the trial and escape).

Samuel Err Mead was born 12 Feb 1850, the son of Heman D. & Sarah A. (Reed) Mead, and died as described above on 23 Sept 1877.

PHYLLIS CAMPBELL, 31134 Bobrich, Livonia MI 48153, provided the photograph of Samuel Mead, the youngest brother of her grandfather Charles B. Mead, who was 8 years old when this event occurred. She would be pleased to hear from anyone who knows more about Samuel's wife and daughters.

ELIJAH B. DAVISON was a veteran of the War of 1812, having served as a Private in Capt. John Brooks' Company in Virginia from 22 Feb 1814 to 15 Mar 1815. He was born 24 Apr 1786 in London Dock, England. During the service he went by the name of ELIJAH BOYCE. According to his pension file, he was married first to SARAH KNOWLING (NOWLING), b 1800, d 1 Mar 1845, ae 45y, buried Hart Cemetery, Salem Tp., Columbiana County. He married 2nd on 4 Nov 1847 to ELIZABETH BUTZ who died 3 Oct 1886. His pension file states that he filed for divorce in 1855, but it was dismissed and no divorce was granted. The trial testimony indicates he was "an eccentric old man and had been living alone." He had reached his 89th year when he was murdered in Leetonia. Oddly, Elijah cannot be found in Columbiana County census records for 1850,1860,or 1870. The only child we are certain of is the son John, who testified at the trial.

There were three other columns on the immigration form, namely "Occupation", "The Country to which they severally belong" and "The Country in which they intend to become inhabitants". The first person on the list was a Farmer from Great Britain to North America. Below his name a wavy vertical line extended to the end of the list in each of the three columns. One other column was entitled "Died on voyage". Number 34, Jessie Thorburn, and number 119, Robert Smyth, were shown to have died on the voyage.

In the mid-1800s some one hundred Scottish families left Scotland and settled in the community surrounding the present day village of Savannah, Ashland County, Ohio. In 1835 the village was called Vermillion and was located in Richland County (Ashland County was not organized until 1846.) The community extended into parts of old Lorain and Huron Counties. The passengers marked with an asterisk (*) are known to have settled in this community. Others may have alsc settled there. Dr. George W. Hill's "History of Ashland County, Ohio" (1876) contains a biographical sketch of William Kirkton in which it is stated: "William Kirkton, in company with his wife and an intimate friend, George McKay, came to America in 1835, bidding farewell to his native Scotland. They sailed in the 'Lady of the Lake', which was soon after lost." It has not yet been learned what the fate of this ship was, whether it made other safe trips, when it was lost or who may have been lost with it.

An abbreviated history of the passengers known to have come to Ohio follows. These immigrants were not the first whites to settle in the Savannah community. The original settlers of the community were predominently the so-called "Scotch-Irish" people who came from western Pennsylvania as early as 1815. Some of them are known to have had ancestors who immigrated from Ireland. Many of the original settlers bore Scottish names: Paterson, McWilliams, McBeth, Cook, Anderson, Shaw, Harper, Smith, Wright, Scott, Cooper and others. But as far as has been ascertained, none of them were natives of Scotland and no relationship has been established between the original settlers and the Scottish immigrants. It has not been determined why the first Scottish immigrants chose to settle in the community.

The earliest reference found of a Scottish immigrant to the Savannah community is a property deed from Robert Harper to "John Jeffery of Scotland, North Britton" for 130 acres of land in Section 11, Clear Creek Township, Richland County, Ohio. This deed was dated 26 October 1833. Scottish immigrants continued to arrive in the community from this date until the beginning of the Civil War.

Passenger William "Kirkon" is thought to have been the William Kirkton who married Jane Anderson, 2 August 1834, in Rothiemay Parish, Banffshire. They settled in Ruggles Township - then in Huron County, now in Ashland County - where they had seven more children born. The family moved to the village of Savannah sometime after the mother died in 1869. Their daughter Eva married John McWilliams, son of Charles McWilliams and Agnes Beveridge (this author's great grandparents) in 1881 and moved to Garnett, Kansas in 1888. Eva's brother James A. Kirkton and his wife Flora V. and family are found in Garnett, Kansas, as well, on the 1895 State Census; James and Flora had had six children born in Missouri and a seventh born in Kansas in 1891. Both families had moved to Fremont County, Colorado, by 1900.

The William and Isabella (Davidson) Benton family lived at Lonnonwell, Alford Parish, Aberdeenshire. They became prominent members of the Savannah community. Son William married Isabella Forbes, daughter of William and Christianne (Tawse) Forbes, in 1843, and after Isabella's death, he remarried Christina (Berry) Robinson, daughter of Andrew and Mary Berry, in 1863. Both of his wives were natives of Alford Parish. Son Joseph married Christianne Forbes, also a daughter of William and Christianne (Tawes) Forbes, in 1845 in Richland County, Ohio.

Johnathan Cumming married Jane Gordon, 27 June 1824, in Monymusk Parish, Aberdeenshire. Jane was from Alford Parish when married. Their apparent children on the passenger list have not been found in the Savannah community by name but the Johnathan Cummings household on the 1840 census did have a female aged 10-15. A Margaret Cummings married William P. Fenn in Ashland County in 1849. Johnathan and Jane Cummings were charter members of the Free Presbyterian Church organized in Savannah in 1851, as were also George Mackey (referred to below) and his wife Elizabeth and other native Scotsmen who seceded from the Presbyterian Church because of differences on the slavery question.

James Cobban's wife's maiden name was Helen J. Webster. She died in 1847 and James remarried Sarah Beattie, daughter of Walter and Catherine (Anderson) Beattie who came to Ohio from Knockingbaird, Insch Parish, Aberdeenshire in 1836 aboard the "Arkwright", James Birnie, Master, sailing from Aberdeen to New York. (Also aboard the "Arkwright" on this voyage were the George and Christina (Davie) Beattie family from Insch Parish. The "Arkwright" had made an earlier voyage from Aberdeen, landing in New York in May 1835 with a load of passengers.) Family tradition holds that the Walter Beattie family traveled to Albany, New York, and from thence to Ohio via the Erie Canal and by horses and wagon. James Cobban had four more children born in Ohio to his first wife and four born to his second wife. He worked at the blacksmith trade in New London, Huron County, until 1854 when he purchased and moved to a farm in Butler Township, Richland County.

Single men aboard the "Lady of the Lake " who settled in the Savannah Community were William Coutts, John Harvey and George Mackie.

No marriage record has been found for George Mackie (or Mackey) and his wife Elizabeth, so Elizabeth's maiden name is not now known. According to Hill's history mentioned above, they were married in 1838 and their tombstone in the Savannah Cemetery shows that George was born in Alford Parish, 26 December 1801, and Elizabeth was born in the adjacent Parish of Tough, 10 April 1805. George and Elizabeth apparently had no children of their own but Hill's history relates that they had three adopted children whom they cared for as their own. The Richland County Guardian Index, Volume 1, shows that George Mackey was appointed Guardian of Mary and John Benton in the June term 1847. These Benton children have not yet been identified.

John Harvey, the passenger on the "Lady of the Lake", was a son of John and Jane Harvey and was born in Aberdeenshire in 1801. His parents and brother Robert also came to the Savannah community, but it has not been learned when. According to the Richland County Grantee Index, John Harvey bought 16 acres of land on the west side of the village of Savannah in 1835. This was probably John, Jr., but may have been John, Sr. John, Jr., married Catherine Paterson in Ashland County in 1851. Catherine was a daughter of Robert and Isabella (Lawson) Paterson who were living in Skene Parish, Aberdeenshire, in 1841. They brought their family to Hamilton, Ontario in 1842 where the father died in 1846. Subsequently Isabella, brought her family to the Savannah community and then to Poweshiek County, Iowa before 1860. John and Catherine Harvey lived near Savannah where John died in 1879. Catherine had joined her family in Iowa before the 1880 census was taken, but it is not known how long she stayed in Iowa. Her mother died in 1883 and Catherine is not found with her siblings on the 1885 Iowa State Census, so she apparently returned to Ohio before 1885. She died in 1899 as shown in the register of the Presbyterian Church of Savannah, Ohio and is buried in the Savannah Cemetery.

Catherine (Paterson) Harvey's brother Joseph married Barbara Beveridge in Tough Parish, Aberdeenshire, in 1840, and came to the Savannah community in 1841 via the St. Lawrence Seaway, Lake Ontario and Niagara Falls. Barbara was a daughter of James and Sarah (Copland) Beveridge who lived at Craich, Tough Parish, in 1841, as did Charles McWilliams, apprentice wright. The Beveridge family and Charles McWilliams, came to Richland County in 1843 and Charles and their daughter Agnes were married there in 1847. Margaret Beveridge, another daughter of James and Sarah, married Robert McWilliams, Charles' brother, in Richland County in 1851. Robert and Margaret McWilliams and Joseph and Barbara Paterson with their young families moved to Cedar County, Iowa, in 1853 and Robert and Margaret moved farther west to Poweshiek County in 1858. Numerous Scottish families from the Savannah, Ohio, community and others directly from Scotland pioneered these two Iowa communities.

William Coutts, another single man aboard the "Lady of the Lake", was one of the very first Scotsmen to pioneer the Cedar County, Iowa community in the Township of Red Oak. On the 12th of April, 1837, he arrived there, walking the entire distance from Ohio in the company of John Chappell another Scotsman. Three years later he returned to Ohio, walking the entire distance, being nineteen and one-half days on the way. He married Rachel Bandeen, daughter of John and Jean (Yule) Bandeen, natives of Scotland, in Richland County in 1843. William returned to Iowa "a few years later", but whether Rachel and his daughter accompanied him is not known. Rachel died in 1847 and their daughter in 1849. The daughter is buried in Savannah Cemetery. William married Rachel's sister Barbara in Richland County in 1850, and they subsequently raised a family of seven in Cedar County, Iowa. Rachel and Barbara Bandeen were born at Kingsford, Alford Parish. It is not known when their parents came to the USA, but their mother is buried in the Savannah Cemetery and their father in the Red Oak Cemetery. In 1876 William Coutts made a visit to his native land and other European points and greatly enjoyed looking again on the scenes of his childhood and renewing acquaintance with the friends of his youth.

The author would be pleased to correspond with anyone interested in any of the persons listed in this article or any other Scottish persons known to have lived in the Ohio and Iowa communities mentioned. He would be interested also to learn what became of the other passengers aboard the "Lady of the Lake" in 1837 and to learn the details of the fate of the ship itself. Write to: Paul F. McWilliams, 1862 Calmin Drive, Fallbrook, California 92028.

The following 1810 tax list for Tuscarawas County, Ohio was found in Miscellaneous Records of Montgomery County, Ohio (L.D.S. microfilm #511881). It is a handwritten copy, but no explanation of where the original is.

The FOWLER FAMILY are descended from three brothers who emigrated from England at an early period and soon after separated. One, NATHAN, married and lived in new york, and his son BENJAMIN was on board a vessel which remained out of sight of land for three years and six months. He was with George WASHINGTON during the REVOLUTIONARY WAR. His father was killed in the French and Indian War. Another of the three brothers ELITHAN, married and lived in Connecticut; and the third brother, DAVID, married a French woman and settled in Pennsylvania, and from him the race, of which our subject is a member, sprang. The FOWLER FAMILY as a rule are long lived. Benjamin, the grandfather of our subject , died at the age of one hundred and six years.

CLUES FROM A BIOGRAPHICAL ENTRY

The 1880 Census for Cuyahoga County, Ohio includes a listing for my great-grandparents, John and Mary Schneider, and their boarder, "Mark Kaster."[1] He was 21 years old and worked in a sewing machine factory. Since I assumed that many people supplemented their income by renting rooms to boarders, I did not question the entry. But the young man came instantly to mind when I discovered an entry in S. P. Orth's A history of Cleveland, Ohio, volume 3 (Chicago, S. J. Clarke, 1910). Some statements in the biography led me to think that the subject, Martin Koster, might be the same person, as well as related to some of the families from Holland and Westphalia who settled in the county in the mid-1880s. Many of these families were interrelated by marriage.

The following is a verbatim entry from Orth's book:

MARTIN KOSTER

"Persistent endeavor, intelligently directed in legitimate channels, works toward ultimate success, and one of the men who has proven this conclusively by his life work is Martin Koster of Cleveland. He was born in this city, February 12, 1859, a son of Martin and Adelaide (Nienhaus) Koster. Until he was sixteen years old he attended the public schools but has since earned his own living."

"Entering the grocery store owned by his father, he worked for him two years and then until he attained his majority he was employed by his uncle in farm work near Warrensville, Ohio. At the age of twenty-one he came to Cleveland and for two years he was a metal polisher for the White Sewing Machine Company. Having gained valuable experience, he entered the employ of the Whipple Lock Company, and remained with them for three years in the same capacity. By this time he had saved some money and so established himself in a plating business on the corner of Center and Detroit streets and built up so good a trade that within seven months he sold out to the Peckstone-Wilcox Company. For the following five years, he was foreman of the builders' hardware department of the Claflin Manufacturing Company. At the expiration of the five years he bought the old Northern Ohio Plating Works, which he has since operated with marked success. Mr. Koster also owns a one-half interest in the Cleveland Meat Chopper Company and is half owner in the Cleveland Stove Trimmings Manufacturing Company, giving to all these concerns the benefit of his long and varied experience."

"On May 31, 1881, Mr. Koster was married in Cleveland to Miss Marguerite Demming and they have ten children: Adeline, now Mrs. Armstrong; Jennie, at home; Bernard, who is engaged with his father as is William; Catherine, at home; Frank, who is also with his father; Carl, who is attending St. Ignatius College; Theodore, who also attends a Catholic School; and Martin, Jr., and Marguerite, who are attending the public schools. The family residence is at No. 8610 Madison street."

"The political affiliations of Mr. Koster are with the democratic party. He is a Catholic and belongs to the Knights of Columbus. He has won success through persistent and painstaking efforts, and at the same time he has maintained a high standard in his business transactions which has assisted him materially in retaining old customers."

When I discovered this biography I was working on another ancestor's family. I thought that perhaps the Deyling family and their neighbors in Newburgh Township may have also been neighbors in Westphalia. I requested the Westfälische Gesellschaft für Familienforschung in Münster to search for one of the families surnamed Brugge. Their response and a later check of microfilmed church records through my local Family History Library (LDS) confirmed my theory. The Dekeling/Degeling family left Mussum near the town of Bocholt, Westphalia, late in 1858. The Brugges were from the nearby town of Hemden. Johann Bernard Brugge and Adelheid (Aleida, Lida) Mölders emigrated to America in 1845 with six of their ten children[2] and a granddaughter, Adelheid Nienhaus. Little Adelheid's parents, Wilhelm Nienhaus and Anna Maria Josephina Brugge, emigrated in 1844 with a younger daughter.[3]

I gathered data on Adelheid Nienhaus, Martin Koster's mother, by using birth, death and marriages records of the City of Cleveland and Cuyahoga County. Adelheid married Martin Kösters on 5 May 1858[4] and was widowed seven months later on 18 December when her husband died of consumption at age 40.[5] She was eighteen years old. Her son Martin was born posthumously in February 1859. On 23 October 1859, Adelheid married Theodore Uebbing.[6] They are listed under the name Ebing in the 1860 Census for Ward 10.[7] In the 1870 Census Theodore was a clerk in a warehouse.[8] At least eight children were born to Adelheid and Theodore;[9] the last was born after his death in January 1873 at age 37.[10]

The Cleveland City Directory for 1873-74 lists "L. Übbing", widow of Theodore, grocer, Bridge Ave. at the corner of Root. Adelheid Nienhaus, now 33, married for a third time on 11 November 1873 to Bernard Baumann.[11] This was the "father who owned the grocery store" mentioned in the biography for the period 1875-77.

Martin Koster's biography then states that he worked on an uncle's farm "near Warrensville" from about 1877 to 1880. At that time, his mother's uncle, Johann Heinrich (Henry) Brugge, farmed in Warrensville Township's Lot 31 purchased in 1852. Another uncle, Gerhard Johann (John) Brugge, farmed in Newburgh Township, just west of Warrensville. In 1858 he had purchased parts of Lots 430 and 438. The 1874 Cuyahoga County atlas, however, indicates ownership of only 29 acres in part of Lot 429. John Brugge's farm neighbor to the east was Robert Kuster/Kösters[12] who had 20 acres in Lot 429. I have not been able to determine if Robert and Martin, Adelheid's first husband, were related. The name Kösters, with spelling variations, is also found in the area of Bocholt, Westphalia. Thus the uncle referred to could be either John Brugge or possibly, Robert Kuster.

At age 21, approximately 1880, Martin Koster came to Cleveland and worked at the White Sewing Machine Company. The 1880 Census entry for the Schneiders and "Mark Kaster" is dated 3 June. Yet Martin is also listed with Bernard and Adelheid Baumann in Ward 10 on 15 June.[13] His relationship to the head of household was stepson, aged 21, working in a machine shop.

The Schneiders were probably well-acquainted with Martin since Mary's father, John Busch, was a farm laborer living near the Kuster and John Brugge farms. Her mother's family, the Deylings, also lived near these farms.[14] Mary's uncle, Johann Heinrich (Henry) Deyling, married John Brugge's daughter. Five years after Henry Deyling's death in 1912, Mary Brugge Deyling became the second wife of the widowed John Schneider, my great-grandfather.

That Martin Koster was hardworking and successful is evidenced by his biography. He died in September 1952 at the age of 93. His wife Marguerite/Margaret died in June 1947 at age 87.

In further research I would like to determine if Robert Kuster was related to Martin Kösters. I am also very interested in the Dutch and Westphalian families who settled in Cuyahoga County. Birthplaces are variously given in vital records as Germany, Prussia, Holland and The Netherlands. It would be exciting to discover even more Old and New World neighbors. For the moment, I am satisfied that another genealogical mystery of mine has been resolved and family relationships are that much clearer.

FOOTNOTES

1 Schneider family (1880 Census, Cleveland, Cuyahoga County: Ward 15, dwelling 121, family 125; Soundex 15-47-12-40)

Of the remaining four children: Johann Wilhelm died in infancy; I have not found further records for the first Gerhard Johann, born 1808, or the second Johann Wilhelm, born 1817; Anna Maria Josephina married Wilhelm Nienhaus in 1840.

3 Ship Protheus arrived in New York via Rotterdam on 23 August 1844 with Wilhelm Nienhaus, wife Maria, daughter Berndina, 9 months. This family appears in entry no. 1379 of Beiträge zur Westfälischen Familienforschung, Bd. 22-24, (lists emigrants from Westphalia) but only daughter Henrica, born 25 July 1843, is listed. The only children found in the baptismal records of St. Georg Church, Bocholt, are: Adelheid, born 24 September 1840, and Johanna Henrina, born 22 October 1842. (to date)

4 Martin Koersters/Adelheid Nienhaus (Cuyahoga County, Ohio marriages, v.9, p.102)

12 Robert Kuster appears as "Lambert Koesters" in the baptismal record of his daughter Bernardina (later known as Christina) dated 30 September 1864, St. Peter's Church, Cleveland. His birthplace is given as Holland in records located to date. He arrived in America in March 1856.

13 Boumann family (1880 Census, Cleveland, Cuyahoga County: Ward 10, dwelling 583, family 635). Four known Baumann children: Elizabeth (Mrs. Clyde Sprague), Bernard, Hermann, Margaret (Mrs. James Filbin)

14 I have not been able to verify Mary Schneider's father or mother with certainty. Family tradition states that they were John Busch and Adelheid Dekeling and that her birth in January 1859 was in "neutral Dutch waters" aboard ship. She consistently gave England as her birthplace, which would be accurate since this was the destination of the ship. Current research indicates that Mary may have been the daughter of Adelheid Dekeling's first husband, Jan Cornelis Oosterhuis and his first wife. The Dekeling family arrived in New York from London on 3 June 1859 on the Ship Devonshire. There was no infant listed with them, nor was Mr. Oosterhuis on the passenger list. Adelheid and Jan Cornelis married in Cleveland in September 1859. He was still alive in 1862. The marriage between John Busch and Adelheid occurred between 1863 and 1870. John was born ca 1830 in Holland. Therefore, it is possible that my great-grandmother, Mary, was raised by step-parents.

RENOVATING A FAMILY CEMETERY

Fifty-one years ago my husband and I skipped the last day of the Northeastern Indiana Teacher's Association to take a weekend trip to Lexington, Kentucky. On the way, we stopped at Aberdeen and Manchester, Ohio, to look up some of our BROOKOVER relatives. Wilbur's great grandfather, George BROOKOVER, with his wife, Eliza GUFFIN BROOKOVER, had left their relatives in Brown County and migrated to Huntington County, Indiana in 1855. George was the son of Asceal BROOKOVER, who had settled near Aberdeen in 1802 and owned 2,000 acres of land along the Ohio River.
We met Jim BROOKOVER of Manchester, Ohio. He asked if we would like to see the old family cemetery. Of course we would as we had never heard of it before. So he took us to Aberdeen, and up Fishing Gut Road as far as the DRYDEN FARM. This had originally been Asceal BROOKOVER'S land which George had bought, but sold when he left for Indiana. We went through a gate, up a steep hill back of a tobacco barn, and there at the very top, was a fenced-in cemetery. Many of the stones were still standing, but no one had been buried there since 1901.

We returned to the cemetery thirty years later -- in the 1960's -- and were shocked to find most of the fence down, and that livestock had upset and broken many of the stones. Besides, the place was grown up in weeds. The fact is that not many BROOKOVERS were left there anymore; the ones that were left either had forgotten about the cemetery, not cared, or had never known about it. When this was reported to the BROOKOVER family reunion in Indiana, and also to many other BROOKOVERS in the U.S., it was decided that we should investigate the possibility of at least preserving what was left of the cemetery. The first thing to do was to get a fence up as soon as possible, so no further damage would be done by the livestock in the field. In this we were lucky. A friend, Lloyd FERGUSON, had been a Dean at Michigan State Univ. in East Lansing. He has retired to Brown Co., Ohio, to nearby Russelville. He negotiated with a fence builder and even worked all day to help him. In the meantime the family collected some money to help with expenses.

Then we went to Aberdeen where Wilbur met with the Huntington Twp. Board. Donald DRYDEN, who owned the farm, was on the Board, but we also found a distant BROOKOVER relative, Mr. John GRIERSON, who had been the Township Clerk for many years. His gggrandfather, James BROOKOVER was also buried in the cemetery and his stone was in good condition since he was buried in the 1890's. Mr DRYDEN informed us that his Deed explicitly mentioned that the cemetery was not included. So it either still belonged to the family or had reverted back to the township. Although Ohio expects the townships to care for cemeteries, in this part of the state there are many old family cemeteries, often on steep hills making it difficult to get them mowed. Many have been abandoned and long forgotten. The family decided to put a small endowment fund with the township. This would insure that it would be mowed. Mr. DRYDEN gets paid by the township to do this.

In 1981 we held the national BROOKOVER REUNION at the Richard BROOKOVER Farm near Manchester, Ohio. Eveyone visited the cemetery Our son Tom and his wife, Cicely, got down on their hands and knees and dug up some of the stones which had been covered with dirt and moss. One of these was Wilbur's gggrandmother, Margaret. The question next was how were we going to preserve the stones. The purists in the family--especially Tom and Cicely--wanted the stones placed at the correct locations. However, we did not know the exact locations. The BROOKOVER stones only went back to 1837-38. When Don DRYDEN began digging with his tractor, a number of strangers turned up! These went back to 1820. Our reluctant relative, John GRIERSON, again came to our rescue. He remembered that the cemetery had originally been called the GRAY CEMETERY and the adjoining land was GRAY land. Don DRYDEN said he had in fact bought the adjoining land from the GRAY Family. An ANN GRAY stone appeared--she had died in 1901. The 1820 stones were BONNERS AND BAILEY.

It was Don DRYDEN, who finally came up with the plan which we decided to use. He suggested building a cement platform, and arranging the stones on that. Not only would the stones be preserved but the mowing would be simplified.
It took a couple of years and numerous meetings in Aberdeen with the DRYDENS and GRIERSONS to work all that out. Finally in October, 1988, after DRYDEN had his tobacco in, he asked us to come down to supervise the renovating. He had two men to help, his brother-in-law Odell SMITH and son Dale SMITH. We arrived on October 17th, stayed at a Motor Inn and prayed that it wouldn't rain for the next two days or it would be impossible to get up the hill. It did rain that night but we went out to the cemetery and the men worked out their plans and were ready for the Maysville Cement Truck which was to arrive at ten o'clock the next morning. The next morning we drove out Fishing Gut Road where the SMITHS and DRYDEN were waiting for us. I went up the hill and opened the gate to the cemetery. Soon the cement truck arrived but it was not going to be an easy job! After six tries the driver got up the lane which was very dangerous and wet with dew. Finally the driver made it to everyone's relief!

We all kept quiet until we saw what kind of a mood he was in, angry, scared, or what?? When I told him how frightened I had been for him, the driver said "Listen, if that truck had dropped off the ledge, I would not have been in it." Then he proceeded to pour cement, and the men all helped smooth it. By twelve o'clock the job was done--after all these years. We had done all we could to preserve what was left of an ancient and historic cemetery. All stones were put in whether broken or not. The broken were laid down. Later that afternoon when the cement was more dry, we went back, and Wilbur inscribed his name and the date--October 18, 1988 in the cement. I recorded the whole process in pictures, but I forgot to take a picture of the insolent cattle.

AN UPDATE ON OHIO'S BIRTH RECORDS

Ohio Departments Building
Room G-20
65 South Front Street
Columbus, Ohio 43215

June 14, 1989

Dear Mrs.

I have been asked to reply to your information request regarding access to Ohio birth records.

Recently passed legislation, House Bill No. 790, provides that the "information for medical and health use only" on the live birth certificate is restricted from general public access. Birth records from 1949 to the present contain the restricted information. However, indexes and the top portion of all live birth certificates are public information available to be reviewed as provided by the Public Records Act. All death records and death indexes are available for review by the public.

Since the items of information you need for genealogy research can be reviewed by the general public, there is no need for you to obtain a client release.

In this office you may make an appointment to review the state indexes on file. Copies of the top portion of the live birth certificate are available for inspection for those records with the restricted data.

Hopefully this has answered your questions. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have further questions.

Respectfully,

John Conner, Chief
Division of Vital Statistics
